I dunno about you but that really turns me off. So what can you do? Of course the logical, sensible thing to do is to try getting turned on to something else that makes sense.

But woe and alas! Most people seem to remain turned off, unplugged, and militantly apathetic members of the soggy green masses. Why, oh, why this dusty fate for so many onceeager scholars?? do they retreat behind stacks of textbooks and class notes, venturing CONTINUED on pare 10

IN SOME RESPECTS it is an anniversary to celebrate and celebrate we do. Our friends and relatives are no longer fighting and dying to quell the rebellions in our Far East colonies.

Yet the story is still the same, only the faces have changed. 50,000 have died in these last two years. 200,000 are imprisoned. 80% of all the money that goes into the conflict, both sides included, comes from U.S. taxpayers. Reason to celebrate? Texas does alright.

500 to 3000 fighter aircraft at $3,000,000 each will bring at least $12 billion dollars into the Dallas-Ft.Worth economy over the next five years, your dollars, poor as you probably are.

Depressing? Certainly. But there you arepart of it, every time you pay your telephone tax or income tax. That, in short, is our message. We don't expect some white knight, black knight or green knight to come to our rescue. We hope that people can do it themselves. Do what? Well, you must have some ideas of your own, something better than smoking a lot of dope. You might consider talking with some folks who have joined together into an organization called the Indochina Peace Campaign. Talk with Van Champagne or Veselka over on 2519 Winstead. They're trying. Or write us. We'll share your suggestions with the world.

And so the fate of little Lorry Rogers lingers on. Only time will tell if all the state of modern technocricy tan prolong her fracile existence
